HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOL

Reasons to Attend in 2015

You will:

- Improve your current communication skills
- Evaluate new opportunities to publish
- Hear how your counterparts secure and prepare for speaking engagements on television, radio and live events
- Get expert guidance to hone your “elevator pitch”
- Learn about how to productize your intellectual property
- Explore communication techniques of Key Opinion Leaders (KOLs)
- Make invaluable contacts with editors, writing coaches and literary agents
- Have fun and meet wonderful colleagues who share your creative energy

Dear Colleague,

There's value in your knowledge and body of work. Developing expert communication skills will enable others to tap into this value, and let your ideas achieve national and international recognition and impact.

Talk to alumni of this course and you hear an inspiring array of successes that they credit, in large measure, to the time and effort they invested in honing their communication skills. Many of them have led changes in healthcare, published award-winning books, and routinely appear as key opinion leaders on television and radio.

If you are reading this brochure, it is likely that you are a highly educated healthcare professional who already has very good communication skills: written and verbal. This course will help you hone and diversify these skills and arm you with best strategies for modern-day communication.

Every year we change this course to keep up with the dynamic and evolving world of healthcare leadership and communication. In the past, the focus was on publishing books. Today, book publishing is a very important part of the course, but it's not the sole focus. The course now has a broader charter consistent with a world dominated by the Internet, social media and instantaneous connectivity.

Traditional book publishing takes about 3 years to go from proposal to finished product. A blog can take 3 hours and a Tweet can take 30 seconds. All are potent mediums for healthcare communication.

I have seen this course change the trajectory of its attendees' careers. The education you will receive as well as the contacts you will make can be truly life changing.

I hope you will join us in April for this unique educational and networking opportunity.

Julie Silver, MD
*Associate Professor
Harvard Medical School*

Learning Objectives

Upon completion of this course, you will be able to:

- 1. List the elements of a nonfiction book proposal.
- 2. Determine the key strategies that successful writers use to publish their work and apply to your own writing.
- 3. Evaluate common mistakes in narrative writing that lead to errors and poor communication.
- 4. Compare and contrast narrative, memoir, self-help and other nonfiction genres.
- 5. Apply the three phases of the book publishing process.
- 6. Analyze various forms of writing and how they are used in educating the public.
- 7. Determine the next steps in advancing publishing goals.

Accreditation

The Harvard Medical School is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The Harvard Medical School designates this live activity for a maximum of 26 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

This activity is being sponsored by the Massachusetts Psychological Association (MPA) and Harvard Medical School. MPA is approved by the American Psychological Association to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. MPA maintains responsibility for this program and its content.

The Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada recognizes conferences and workshops held outside of Canada that are developed by a university, academy, hospital, specialty society or college as accredited group learning activities.

AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™ claimed by physicians attending live events certified and organized in the United States for AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™ can be claimed through the agreement on mutual recognition of credits between UEMS and AMA, considered as being equal to the European Continuous Medical Education Credits (ECMEC©) granted by the UEMS. One AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™ is equivalent to one (1) hour of European EACCME Credit (ECMEC©), therefore up to 26 ECMEC© Credits are available. Each medical specialist should claim only those hours of credit that he/she actually spent in the educational activity.

ACGME Competencies

This course is designed to meet the following Accreditation Council of Graduate Medical Education (ACGME) competencies: patient care, medical knowledge, interpersonal and communication skills.

Optional Workshops

Developing and Delivering Persuasive Pitches: Oral Book Pitches and Elevator Pitches

Thursday, April 9 • 4:30 pm-5:45 pm

Receptivity to a book or business idea often hinges on a minute or two in front of the right people. Oral book pitches and elevator pitches can be defining moments for your work. This workshop helps you make the most of that pivotal moment.

On Thursday, April 9, participants get expert advice to develop and refine their pitch. Then, on Friday, April 10 or Saturday, April 11, participants get 70 seconds to verbally pitch their book (or other) idea to a panel of editors, literary agents and publishing professionals. At the conclusion, the panelists provide instant written feedback that is constructive and designed to help you hone your pitch.

Please note:

- You may attend the Thursday, April 9 workshop, where you receive help in developing your pitch, and not deliver your pitch to an audience on Friday or Saturday (some participants prefer to have the training but opt out of actually giving the pitch in front of a live audience and panel of experts).
- No on-site registrations will be accepted for this workshop.
- This workshop is limited to the first 75 registrants.
- Some past participants of this course have had editors and agents sign deals on ideas they pitched during this session.

Writers Workshop A: Thursday, April 9 • 7:00 pm-8:45 pm

Writers Workshop B: Friday, April 10 • 7:00 pm-8:45 pm

Boost the impact of your writing by having it critiqued by a publishing professional who is an expert in healthcare publishing.

The workshop instructors will review a sample of your writing that you submit (this is optional) approximately one month prior to the course. During the workshops, they will lead small-group discussions — with no more than nine attendees — about the strengths and opportunities for improvement in each participant's writing sample.

Not only will you get valuable feedback on your own writing, but you will pick up many insights from the instructor's comments about your peers' writing. If you don't have a writing sample, the tips you get from the critiques of others' work make the workshop well worth attending — attendees without writing samples to submit are encouraged to attend anyway.

NOTE: Most participants in Writers Workshop register for BOTH workshops A and B, respectively on the evenings of Thursday, April 9, and Friday, April 10. While this is not required, it is recommended, because we ensure you get a different expert critiquing your work each evening. This way, you get twice the insight and ideas to strengthen the impact of your writing.

Advanced Workshops (Select One)

Saturday, April 11 • 1:30 pm-4:30 pm

Social Media Bootcamp

Rusty Shelton

A special 3-hour immersive workshop for healthcare professionals who want a current understanding of the uses, career-building attributes, infrastructure, time requirements, benefits and risks of social media. The velocity of communications is also examined — how you can garner attention in as little as one week. Take home resources to start or refine your social media infrastructure, including your website, blog, Twitter account, Facebook page, LinkedIn profile, Google+ and Pinterest presence.

Writing a Winning Book Proposal

Martha Murphy and Lisa Tener, MBA

Led by award-winning authors and writing coaches, this 3-hour workshop offers expert recommendations to capture an editor's attention in the first few lines of your writing and to optimize the content, length and approach of your book proposal while capturing your passion and staying true to your unique voice.

Techniques to Maximize Your Writing Creativity and Productivity

Shelley Carson, PhD

This special, 3-hour workshop focuses on the creative process that all writers go through and how this process can be enhanced to improve your work. The workshop leader is an expert in creativity from a behavioral/neurocognitive approach. She will educate you about the specific brain activation states that are associated with creativity and how they engage when you are writing. Participants leave this workshop knowing how to use specific techniques that will enable them to maximize their creative efforts in the limited time that they have to write and avoid "writer's block".

Memoir Writing

John Hanc

This interactive 3-hour workshop delves into techniques of memoir writing and will help you to make your personal narrative stand out. The topics covered include, but are not limited to: the construction and value of narrative voice; the five essential ingredients of the first-person essay; how to read your own work as an editor would; and how research can bolster your writing.

Transforming Your Writing from Good to Great

Susan Aiello, DVM

This 3-hour skills-development workshop helps participants take their writing skills to the next level. Explore how word choice affects the precision and clarity of your writing and how misused words can compromise its credibility. Get professional writing advice about commonly cited rules of sentence structure that can be overlooked versus those that cannot. Leave this workshop with concrete ideas to improve the clarity of your writing by identifying and correcting jargon, obfuscation and verbosity.
